

Skaila's interest in films began early on in May 1968 when she was booked to play on Oliver! at Shepperton. She went on to work for three generations of film composers. One of the longest associations has been with the Jackman family- Bill Jackman an orchestral contractor and saxophonist, Andrew his son, a well known record producer and now Henry Jackman, celebrated film composer! Through her work for Sidney Sax she met Jerry Goldsmith and became his regular London harpist for twenty years and before that she played for Bernard Herrmann, Maurice Jarre, Elmer Bernstein, Laurie Johnson, Howard Blake and many more. Up to the present time Skaila has performed on over 1000 film tracks and continues her work in this field.

Below is a fuller list of film and television composers in no particular order.
